

Public Responsibility in Medicine and Research (PRIM&R) advances the highest ethical standards in the conduct of biomedical, social science, behavioral, and educational research. We accomplish this mission through education, membership services, professional certification, and public policy initiatives. Since 1974, PRIM&R has served the full array of individuals and organizations involved in biomedical, social science, behavioral, and educational research.

Welcome to PRIM&R

PRIM&R's vibrant membership community includes professionals representing human and animal research protection programs and institutional biosafety programs, as well as researchers, institutional officials, government personnel, advocates, ethicists, policy makers, pharmaceutical and biotechnology leaders, and attorneys. Members hail from over 1,000 institutions located in 30 countries.
